BISHOP THOMAS BOWMAN

As men count years the life of Bishop Bowman was indeed a long one; and yet, measured by the life upon which he has now entered,

"It is scarce the twinkle of a star
In God's eternal day."

Thomas Bowman was born near Berwick, Pa., July 15, 1817, and died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. B. D. Caldwell, in Orange, N. J., March 3, 1914, being, therefore, in his 97th year.

His parents were Christian people whose home was thrown open to the itinerant who traveled the circuit in those days, and their names are woven into the Methodist history of that part of the State.

He prepared for college at Wilbraham, Mass., and at Cazenovia, N. Y. At the latter place he was converted, and January 1, 1833, united with the Methodist Episcopal Church.

He entered Dickinson College at Carlisle, Pa., where he graduated in 1837 as the valedictorian of his class.

For a year he studied law and then gave up to be a preacher, being licensed in 1838, and spent a year as agent for the Colonization Society of Pennsylvania.

In 1839 he was admitted to Baltimore Conference and served a year as a pastor, after which he took charge of the grammar school of Dickinson College from 1840 to 1843. His health being poor, he was superannuated until 1848, when he entered active service by organizing the Dickinson Seminary at Williamsport, Pa., over which he presided for ten years. He then returned to the pastorate, being in charge at Lewisburg, Pa., but was here only a year when he was elected president of Indiana Asbury University (now De Pauw), at Greencastle, Ind. He filled this position for fourteen years, and at the General Conference at Brooklyn in 1872 was chosen a Bishop on the first ballot, receiving 293 votes out of 408.

During his effective career of twenty-four years in this office he presided over nearly, if not quite, every Conference in the United States and visited all the Conferences in the various mission fields of Europe, India, China, Japan, and Mexico. He was retired at the General Conference of 1896 at Cleveland, O., being then seventy-nine years of age. He came to the home of his daughter, where for eighteen years he has had all that love could give him, and has been held in high esteem by a grateful church; and now, as "the patriarch of the church," full of years, he goeth to his rest, leaving behind the aroma of a beautiful Christian life.

In 1842 he married Miss Matilda Hartman of York, Pa., who died in 1879, while her husband was on an episcopal visit to Europe. Of the eleven children born to them, seven survive to do honor to the memory of a loving father.

The remains were taken to Greencastle, Ind., where funeral services were held Friday, March 6, and the mortal remains laid away to await the resurrection morning.

BISHOP JOHN MORGAN WALDEN

THE subject of this sketch was born in Lebanon, Ohio, on February 11, 1831, and died at Daytona, Florida, January 21, 1914. In a few days he would have been 83 years of age.

His long life was a very active one. He began early as a boatman on the Ohio River. While here he did all he could to educate himself by being an omnivorous reader.

In 1852 he was graduated from the Farmer's College near Cincinnati. For over four years he taught school; for another four years he was a reporter, and part of the time editor and publisher of a paper in Illinois; afterward of a Free State paper in Kansas. His independent utterances here stirred up the wrath of many and he gave up the paper. He was a member and prominent leader of the Constitutional Convention in Kansas in 1858, when the struggle was on to decide whether the State should be free or be in the hands of the slave power. He was chairman of the committee that prepared the address to the American people.

He joined the Cincinnati Conference in 1858. In 1862 he became a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Union Army, serving faithfully.

After his return from the war he held various positions of trust in the church, being one of the founders and first officers of the Freedmen's Aid Society. From 1868 to 1884 he was one of the Publishing Agents of the Western Methodist Book Concern. The General Conference at Philadelphia, 1884, elected him on the second ballot a Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

He was one of the most active and painstaking men on the board, always giving great attention to details—a thing many turn over to others to attend to.

The writer was with him in Cabinet once, and noted with what special concern he inquired into all the needs of the preacher and his family, anxious that they should not have a long move, that the salary should be adequate, that he should be adapted to that special place, that the schools should be suited to his children. He never turned over the making of appointments to the "Elders," but knew the whys and wherefores of every one himself, and when he said, at the close of a Conference session, "I have done my best," he told the truth. He had, for he knew about every man and every church.

He made episcopal visits to every State in the Union, and also to Europe, Asia, South America, and Mexico.

The General Conference of 1904 placed him on the retired list, but through all the years since he has been very active in service for the help of the church.

As a member of the great committees he was one of the best informed men and most illuminating in debate of anyone that spoke.

His fourscore years have been a blessing to the church, and now he rests from his labors.

JOHN T. McFARLAND, D.D., LL.D.

Born at Mount Vernon, Indiana, January 2, 1851. Died at Maplewood, New Jersey, December 22, 1913.

The Editor will let others speak for this great servant of the King.

As pastor and college president his work was outstanding, but as editor of our Sunday school literature his genius was preeminent.

To the historic standards of Methodism he was ever loyal. No man has wrought among us in this generation who may be regarded as a truer exponent of Methodist doctrine and experience than was he. He was in every sense of the word a Wesleyan Methodist.

Dr. McFarland was a seer on the mount of vision. A prophet with the teaching gift; a leader with faith in the truth and trust in the church; a profound lover of little children, young people, men and women, and, above all, of Jesus Christ; calm, patient, and courageous.

It was his crown and opportunity to bring back the church to proper ways of thinking and teaching about the rights of children to their inheritance in the kingdom of heaven.

Patient with the prejudiced, tolerant toward the traditionalist, tenacious of the faith in transitional turmoil, skillful in using a strong, sane, sunny pen, he loved and lived for truth and men and God—the supreme Sunday School Editor of his times.

To him Methodism is forever indebted for creating a Bible school literature as a whole unsurpassed, and in part unequaled in any church.

To know him was to become a better man, to have a larger view of life and a higher thought of service.

Dr. McFarland we honor and love as a "timely" man, and a good and faithful servant of the church. His work will abide.

ROBERT FORBES, D.D.

This sturdy servant of the Church of God was born at Stoneham, Canada, November 13, 1844, and was the son of Alexander and Margaret (Dundass) Forbes.

His education was received in the schools in Canada. In 1866 he married Sarah E. Savage, of Dungannon, Canada, and in 1870 entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Minnesota Conference. After serving important charges for nineteen years he was made a Presiding Elder. When the term expired he was stationed at Asbury Church, Duluth, remaining four years, when he was again placed at the head of a district, remaining until chosen by the Bishops in 1903 to be Assistant Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, following the lamented Dr. Manley S. Hard. In 1904 the General Conference reelected him to that position; and at the death of Dr. J. M. King, in 1907, the Bishops elected him Corresponding Secretary. In 1908 the General Conference reelected him, and in 1912 he was chosen one of the three coordinate secretaries of the Board.

Dr. Forbes was a noble type of manhood. His mind was keen, and quick of perception. He had a most interesting manner of address. "Men loved to listen to him, and heard him with equal pleasure and profit, because thought, diction, and tone combined to impress other minds with the truth that had gripped his own, while the emphasis of assurance which invested his arguments with charm served to win friends for his cause."

For forty-three years he was in the eyes of the church in the various positions assigned to him. Everywhere he was the embodiment of geniality, courtesy, heroism, faith, and devotion. No man was ever truer to the high ideals for which the church stands.

He will be greatly missed not only in the home and among his associates in office, but by the host of Methodist preachers who listened to him with joy and profit at the Annual Conferences.

"The workman dies, but the work goes on."

SPECIAL GIFT APPROPRIATIONS

Whereas, The burden of cultivating special gifts in many of our missions is proving intolerable to the missionaries and they ought not to be compelled to spend so much of their energies in raising supplies for their own fields; and,

Whereas, These gifts, when invested in the current work of the missions, cannot cease without doing irreparable harm to the whole life of the mission; and,

Whereas, The General Conference has ordered (Paragraph 407, Section 2, Discipline of 1912) that the General Committee shall make supplemental appropriations for the work of the several missions of the average amount of special gifts received and applied in the previous three years, "such supplemental appropriations not to be paid, except as special gifts are received for the Missions";

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the General Committee of Foreign Missions request the Board carefully to ascertain the amount of special gifts received for the current work in each of our mission fields during the past three years, and that the Board be authorized to apply both designated and undesignated amounts as supplemental to these missions up to the average amount of special gifts received for this purpose during the past three years, so far as this money can be secured from the donors.

Whereas, There are several missionaries regularly appointed by the Board dependent upon special gifts, which in many cases have a large degree of permanency in expectation;

Resolved, That the Board be authorized in cases where a special gift missionary is supported from reasonably permanent sources to transfer his salary to the regular budget, which shall be increased by that amount.

Whereas, A large proportion of the income from special gifts is for the current work of our missions; and,

Whereas, Many of these gifts have a large degree of permanency in expectation;
